

WWoT App

V1.0

This App was developed to make it easier for an event organiser to get a consensus on what event option within Event TBD (To Be Decided) should be chosen (if any), and once it becomes an Event then it shows who is coming. It is not designed to replace the WhatsApp group as this is purely a “are you going or not” system.

The App is a web-based app, so any device that can go on to the internet will be able to display it - smart phones, laptops, PC's etc. On your favourite web browser go to tostock.online, then under Websites click the WWoT button. To install the App on a smart phone, see the example below.

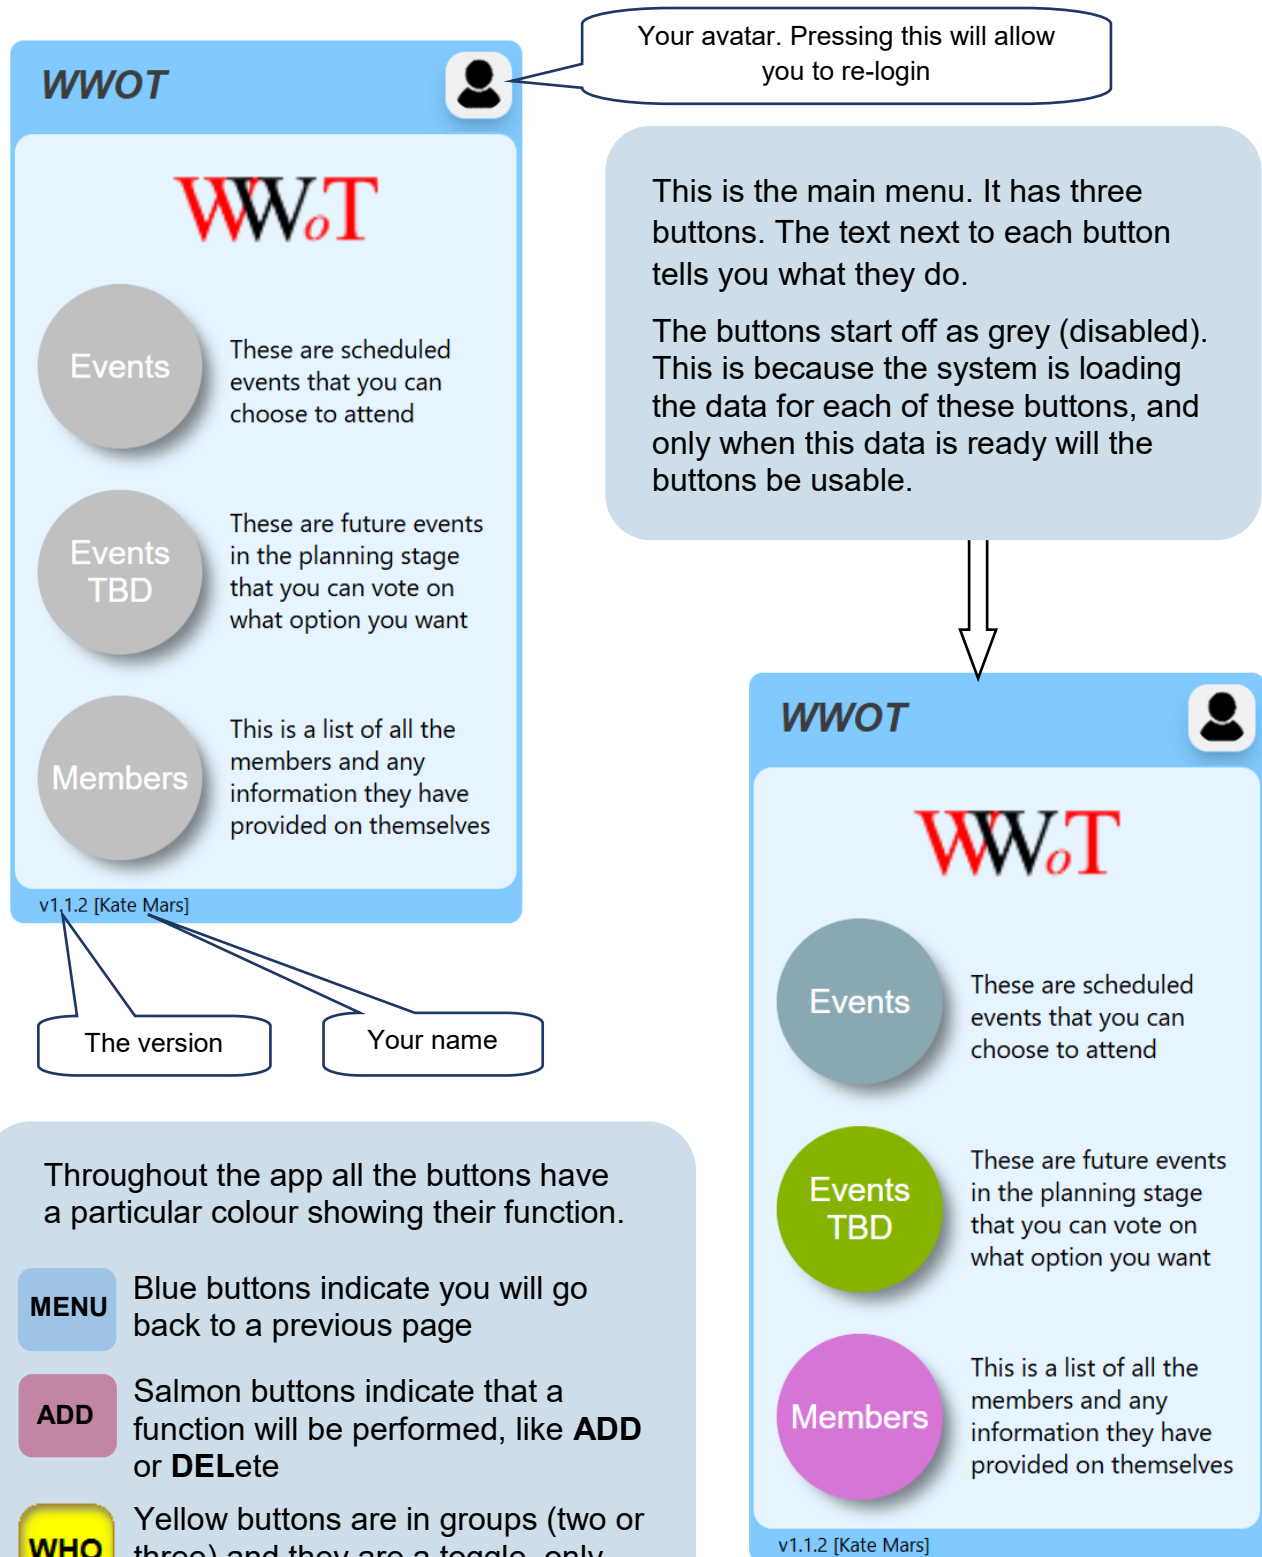

When you first fire up the App the login screen will appear. You must write your first name and surname as it is in the WhatsApp group (which is where I got the list of names). If you only have your first name in the WhatsApp group then you cannot login as I require both names. I recommend you insert your surname there and tell me when you've done it.

As part of using the App I would also like a passport type photo of yourself (smiling!), so top of shoulders upwards, as this will be used as your avatar. If you take the photo against a constant light coloured background then I can remove the background so only your head is in the picture.

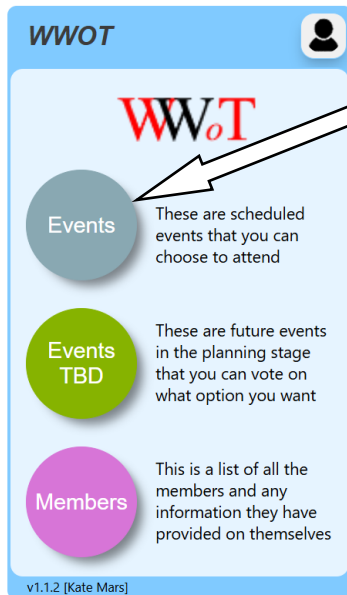

A small cookie is left on your device with just your Member ID (which you never see), so your device will remember your login details and you won't need to do it each time.

Events People Screen

Goes back to the Events List

... This is the screen
you see if you press
this button.

Press YES to notify you will attend

Press NO to indicate you will not attend

An optional comment relating to your attendance will appear here, if you press YES

This is the list of attendees for this event, and this allows you choose to attend.

With any new event everyone starts with a red thumbs down (you're not going), so if you want to attend, press the thumb and it will change to a green thumbs up (you're going) and your name will appear in the list. If you change your mind (for whatever reason) hit it again to change it back to a red thumbs down and your name will disappear from the list.

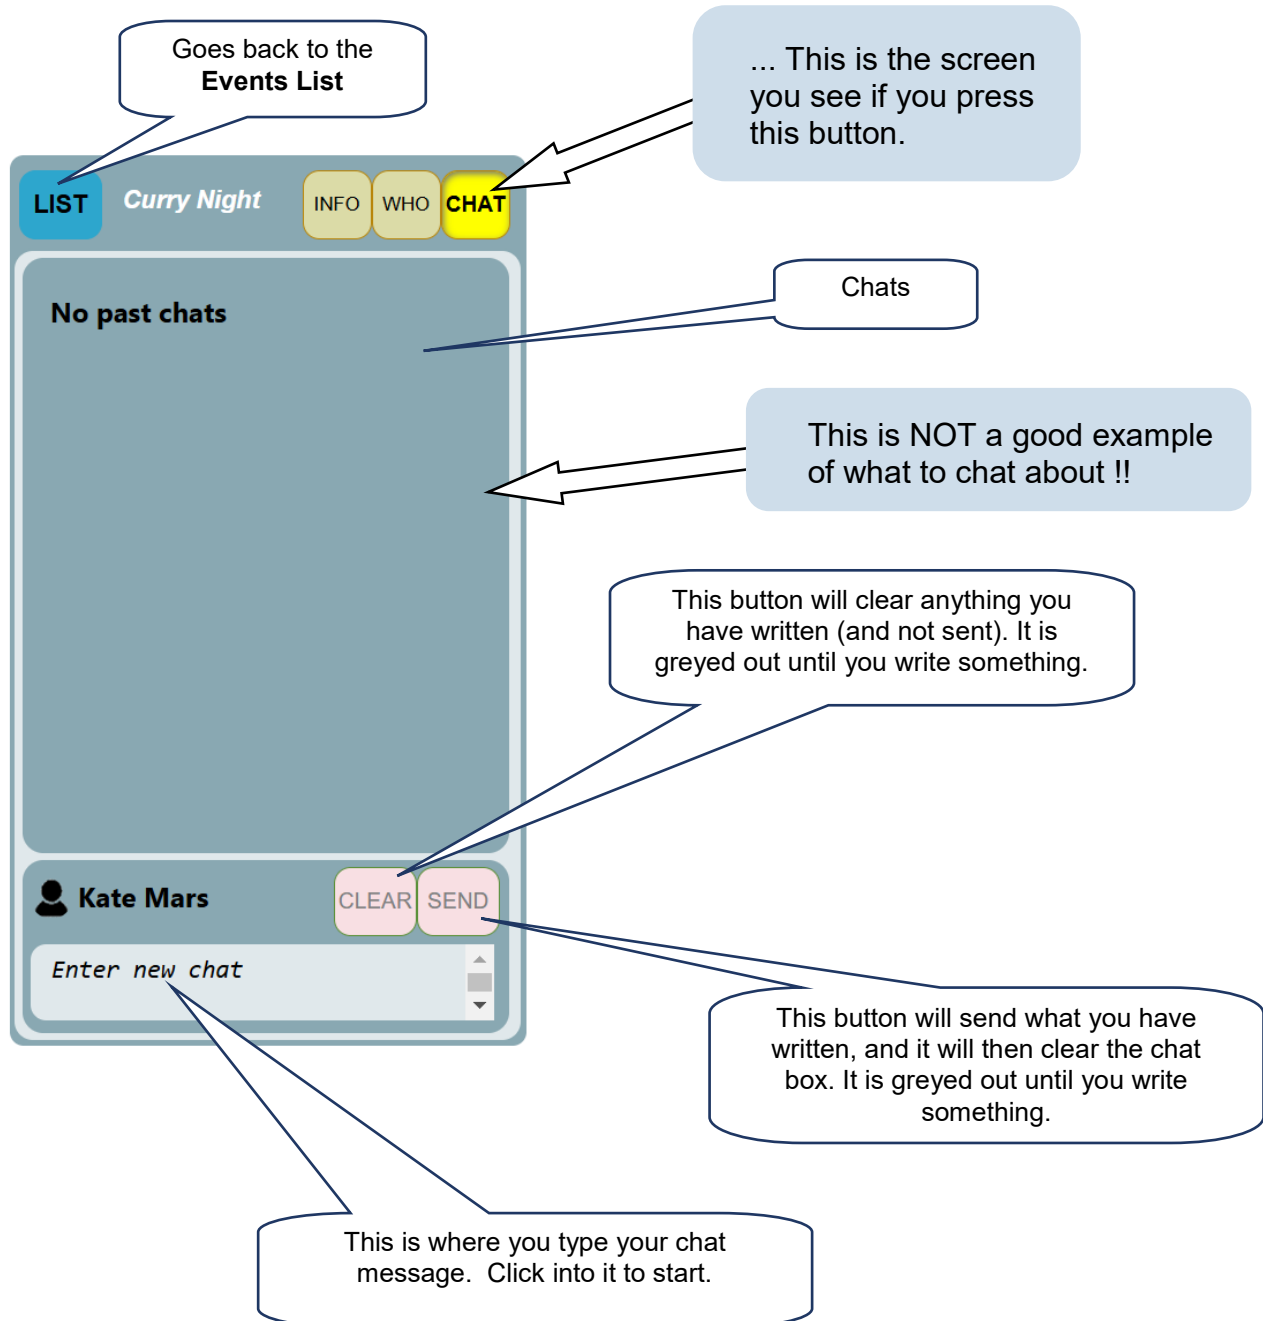

This app does not care why you're going, why you're not going, if you'll be late, if you have to think about it ... It only records whether you will attend.

The comment box below YES/NO ONLY relates to your attendance, and it is something the organiser might need/want to know.

This colour circle relates to a 'pre-payment', if there is one. Green means paid in full, yellow means partially paid, red means not paid. The comment can be used in this instance.

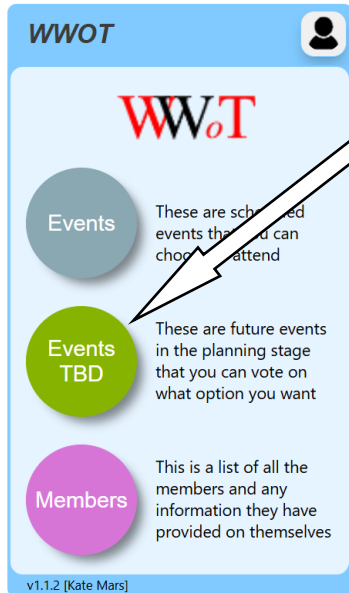

For events that are 'free' or 'pay-at-door' this will always be green

The list ONLY shows members who are GOING

Events TBD List and Info Screens

When you press this button ...

...you go to the Event TBDs list. These are events that are to be decided by you voting on up to 3 options for date and time.

Clicking on a particular Event TBD in the list ...

Goes back to the Event TBDs List

... takes you to the Event TBDs Info screen.

This takes you to the Event TBD Chat page showing any chat about this potential event (see Page 8)

This takes you to the People page where you can choose which option, if any, you want to go with (see Page 7).

Once again the default is not to go, thereby not choosing any option)

Events TBD People Screen

The screenshot shows a mobile app interface for 'New Curry Night'. At the top, there are four buttons: 'LIST' (highlighted in blue), 'INFO', 'WHO' (highlighted in yellow), and 'CHAT'. Below these is a section titled 'Options' with a table showing event details: 1, 21/07/2025, 19:00, Pub, and 20. Below the table is a form labeled 'What's your choice?' with a dropdown menu and a green 'A' button. Below this is a 'Votes' section showing a green 'A' button and the number '1'. At the bottom, there is a list of voters, starting with 'Kate Mars' and a green 'A' button. Callouts provide explanations for various elements: 'LIST' goes back to the Events TBD List; 'WHO' is the screen you see when pressing that button; the 'Options' table lists up to 3 options (usually differing in date or time); the 'What's your choice?' form is where you choose your response; the green 'A' button is your current response; the dropdown menu allows you to choose one of the options, or to indicate you can do any of them, or none of them (but you still want to go), or you're not going; the 'Votes' section is a summary of the answers so far; and the bottom list shows all people who have responded so far, and what they've voted for. This will NOT show anyone who has decided not to attend this event, regardless of options.

This toggles the listing sort order between First Name and Surname

When you click on a Member in the list you go to the screen below left.

Clicking any of the Letter buttons will list the members whose First Name (or Surname) start with this letter

The Member's page shows any information that a member wants to share about themselves with the group.

Apart from the First Name and Surname every other piece of info is optional. You could say nothing about yourself, but then there's no value in that, the purpose of the WWoT is to provide a place to share and have a laugh.

Please do not lie about anything, say nothing instead.

Please give me a passport size photo of yourself (smiling) on a clear plain background. I want members to be able to put a name to the face, and a face to the name.

Organisers and Super Users

The organisers of events get a few more buttons to use as they need to add or delete data along the way.

In the same way there are a few designated 'super-users' who also have extra buttons.

This allows a 'super-user' to add an Event

The screenshot shows a mobile app interface for 'Events'. At the top, there is a 'MENU' button and the title 'Events'. To the right of the title are two buttons: 'ADD EVENT' (pink) and 'DATE NAME' (orange). Below these is a date selector showing 'May, 2025'. Underneath the date selector is a list of events, with one visible: 'Curry Night' on '23/05/2025' at a 'Pub'.

This allows a 'super-user' or organiser to delete an event

The screenshot shows the 'Curry Night' event details form. At the top, there is a 'LIST' button and the title 'Curry Night'. To the right of the title are three buttons: 'INFO' (yellow), 'WHO' (light green), and 'CHAT' (light green). The form contains several input fields: 'Name' (Curry Night), 'Organiser' (Kate Mars), 'Description' (Description), 'Date' (23/05/2025) and 'Friday', 'Time' (19:00) and 'To' (hh:mm), 'Location' (Pub), and 'Location (Full Address)'. There are also radio buttons for 'Cost': 'Free', 'Prepay', and 'Pay-at-door' (selected). At the bottom, there is a 'DEL EVENT' button (pink) and three buttons for statistics: 'Unread 4' (yellow), 'No 0' (red), and 'Yes 1' (green).

These provide stats about the event - Unread means the number of members who have not visited this page, No is the number of members who have seen the Info Page but have chosen not to attend, and Yes are those who have chosen to attend.

This allows an organiser to delete an Event TBD Option (although this is not recommended)

This allows an organiser to convert the 'winning' option into an Event. Enter the winning Option in the box to the right, then press this button.

It will also make all those members who have voted for this option, and those who voted 'Any', to be included as members of the new Event.

Lastly, it will delete the Event TBD and all its linked pages,

This allows an organiser to add a new Event TBD Option, up to maximum of 3
